

Please deny the petition from the bankers association that would weaken Indiana's telephone privacy law. Banks and their subsidiaries were the biggest telephone pests I encountered. In fact, I logged 13 calls from Bank One and its subsidiaries in the three day period before the Indiana law took effect and the callers were rude and arrogant. Exempting banks and their partners would make our state law meaningless.